

1. While Jesus was teaching, a man came whose father had died. According to law, only the oldest son received the family inheritance. The man told Jesus, "That's not fair! Tell my brother to split the money with me!"

2. Jesus replied, "I am not here to settle your argument with your brother. Instead, I tell you this: you will not find a full life in your possessions! Guard yourself against greed. Let me tell you a story."

4. The rich man didn't know he would die that night. When he died, he didn't keep any of those riches. If he had used them to do good for others, he would have been rich toward God.

3. A rich man had a large harvest and no room to store his crops. He decided to build larger barns to keep all of them for himself. He didn't think about how to share with those in need.
